

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The Steuben Teen Pregnancy Prevention Task Force (STPPTF) will be hosting its 4th Annual Adolescent Health & Wellness Conference on Friday, May 11th, 2012 at the Radisson Inn, Corning. This conference is an opportunity to engage with others in the field and educate attendees about current health-related issues pertaining to adolescents.

STPPTF's goals are to advance issues that affect the health and well-being of our region's adolescent community and to promote access and availability of healthcare and human services by partnering and collaborating with organizations, associations, and businesses who share this mission.

This event epitomizes the goals of STPPTF and its importance is proven by the number of people who travel to attend the event. This year we are expecting approximately 200 parents and professionals, all of whom travel from different regions of the state to participate in our Annual Adolescent Health and Wellness Conference.

In order to keep the conference at its best, your support is vital. Please take a few moments to review the various sponsorship opportunities and exceptional benefits offered with each level of support. Your generous sponsorship will promote your organization's visibility and recognition and will illustrate your commitment and dedication to the advancement of adolescent health issues in New York State.

We hope you will join parents and professionals in the fields of education, healthcare and human services in keeping our New York State adolescents healthy and well.

Thank you for your support.

Kelli Mannon, Director
